Dear Parents:

Although spring has arrived, you wouldn't know it by looking outside! As the sun gets higher in the sky and the days eventually get warmer, there will be a lot going on at Stratton School. First off, remember this Sunday there will be a bus leaving school at 11:30 a.m. headed to skiing at Sugarloaf. Please R.S.V.P. if you are interested as it helps with planning.

The school gardens will also be starting up soon. Each class will be planting specific crops to be harvested in the fall for a special theme dinner. This project is a great topic for the dinner table as we work to promote good, healthy eating habits and overall wellness. Thanks to Mrs. Wuori for coordinating this school-wide experience.

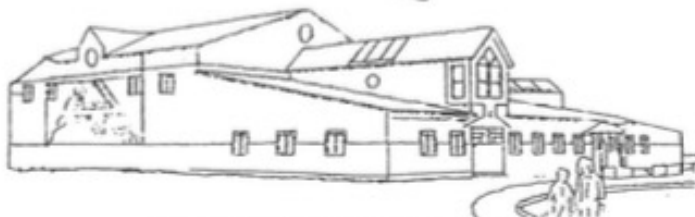

With all the exciting things taking place here at school, we are working diligently to share these experiences. You should be receiving paper notices from classrooms, the occasional letter from me, and we are posting more and more to the school website and Facebook page. At a recent western Maine collaborative, a discussion took place about the changing communication practices that better meet the majority of the "younger generation." We do not wish to exclude anyone by going solely electronic, but, for many, the electronic distribution of information is more effective and efficient. Check out the website and Notes from the Principal, then let us know what you think!

See you soon out at the ball fields!

Sincerely,

Barry O. London
