Dear Parents:

This letter is to inform you of the assessment testing that will take place this fall at Stratton School. One component of the growth mindset for students is a pre-assessment given in September. These assessments are designed to let the staff know where individual students start the school year, with core topics and skills in specific subject areas, and then how much growth they experience over the course of the year.

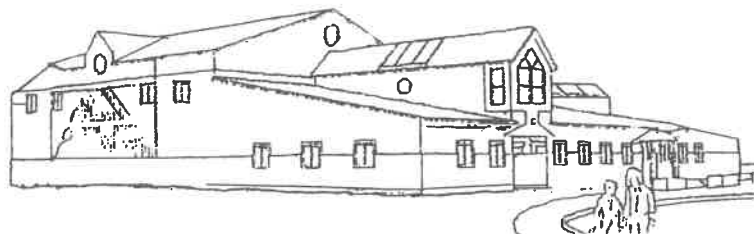

Testing will take place over the next week or so and should not create undue stress. Students should remember the assessments are only one tool to measure what they know, and later, with the follow up assessments, how much they have learned. As with any day of school, a good night's rest provides the best opportunity for students to do their best work.

If you have any questions or have any concerns, please contact the school.

Sincerely,

Barry O. London
Principal
