Dear Middle School Students & Parents:

To insure that middle school students consistently produce quality work and keep up to date on assignments, we will once again hold Mandatory Study Hall, beginning September 2020. The Study Hall will run from 2:30-3:30 Monday through Thursday. Students are required to call and inform parents of their need to attend.

- All children on Academic Probation must attend until they have completed satisfactory work and passed in their completed Academic Action Plan. (This is a minimum of one week).
- Children with incomplete work, or work below expectations, will need to attend the Mandatory Study Hall the day that the work was to be completed.
- Once being placed in the Study Hall, children are required to attend for the entire hour. Producing quality work is important; students should have adequate time to complete their assigned work and should plan on bringing additional work if time allows.
- Students with incomplete work on a Friday will need to attend the Study Hall the following Monday.
- Students on mandatory status, who have prior commitments must be cleared by the Principal and teacher.

Our hope is that students develop a work ethic and take their education seriously. We know, that as concerned parents, this is your hope as well. To do your part, please check your child's work each night.

Thank you for your continued support.

Sincerely,

Barry O. London, Principal and Middle School Teachers
